The Axe

By Frances Randolph

SPRING has come! Spring, the time of poets, the time of lovers, the time of renewal of all life! Spring, with its promise of cherry blossoms, of sweet, warm air and bright sunlight! The poor struggling student takes a new lease on life, haunts the Speedway, waits in line for a chance to occupy the campus benches in enviable though unjustifiable languor. The over-worked professor becomes amiable and a little more lax in his classes. The co-ed appears, and Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these. The gentle warmth of afternoons suggests, but only slightly, the overwhelming summer heat to follow. A mild form of intoxication takes complete possession of campus, bringing a sort of unreasoning happiness with it. Spring has come, and we are sitting on top of the world!

ANYONE who parks by the fire plug on Twenty-first Street from now on will get arrested, says the unreasonable police force. We understand that they actually intend to enforce this edict, strange as that may seem to us who are surely most concerned in the matter. But then, since that cruel cop tagged a whole block of cars in front of Stockton Hall for not having parking lights, we will believe anything of him.

ADRIAN COLLEGE, Michigan, is a Methodist institution. Ye who think that the younger generation is fast going to the dogs, harken to this new story. There are one hundred girls in the college, none smoke, and all are in favor of rigid prohibition. Because ten boys had had a drink when they attended a Kappa Kappa Gamma dance, the girls reported them and had them suspended, even though the girls themselves said that they were not at all disorderly and the chaperone could not tell they were drinking. And to cap the climax, they say it was because "they were old-fashioned girls with old-fashioned ideals." History is not what it used to be, even in Adrian College. In the old-fashioned days a man was not a man unless he could drink and drink "like a gentleman." Drinks were not only allowed, but hospitality was considered not quite what it should be unless the finest of drinks were served. We have some peculiar ideas about our ancestors.

UP to a short time ago, we were laboring under the delusion that golf was the pursuit of the aged and decrepit, but we have lately found that our ideas were tumbling in debris around our surprised ears. George Washington co-eds are taking up the sport in all seriousness. Individual scores are to be turned in at the end of each day. Probably they will play one hole a day. However that may be, it seems to be the berries to play golf, so our fair young ladies have taken to haunting the course in Potomac Park. Well, who wouldn't haunt anything in Potomac Park in the springtime, excuse or no excuse?

BUT on the other hand comes news from Augustana College that the Editor of the Observer, college paper, is asking an apology from the faculty for saying his editorials on Christianity and Evolution were not to be countenanced by an upright Christian college. All of which sounds like great wickedness on the part of ye editor. But we find that the editorials on "Christianity" were only asking that the ban on dancing be lifted, and his editorials on Evolution only asking that it as a theory be allowed a chance. The deterioration of the morals of the young people of this day and age is truly shocking!

WHAT sounds like a real break is the following which was turned in in the course of a news story by one of the Hatchet reporters: "Many members of the faculty, several trustees, and about a dozen people were present."

UNVEILS STOCKTON PORTRAIT AT LAW SCHOOL CEREMONY

Daughter of Former G. W. President Aids in Ceremony Honoring Him

DEAN VAN VLECK SPEAKS

Admiral Campbell of U. S. Navy Tells Of Stockton's Work and Influence

The portrait of Admiral Charles Herbert Stockton, after whom the new Law School building was named, was unveiled by his daughter and presented to the University last Tuesday afternoon. In the auditorium of Stockton Hall, Admiral E. H. Campbell made the principal address, lauding the accomplishments of Admiral Stockton both in the Navy and in his educational work.

After a short introductory talk by President Lewis, Miss Alice Stockton unveiled the portrait, and Dean Van Vleck accepted it for the Law School in a short talk. Prominent members of the faculty and Board of Trustees were on the platform during the ceremony, including Dean Wilbur of Columbia College, Dean Hodgkins, Harry Cassell Davis, Col. Archibald Hopkins, and Gen. Charles Woodhull.

Gives Summary of Life

In his speech, Admiral Campbell gave a summary of Admiral Stockton's life, from his entrance into the Naval Academy in 1861 at the age of fifteen, through his service to the Naval War College to the eight years when he was president of George Washington University. The great value of his work in all lines was emphasized.

Admiral Stockton's supreme qualities of leadership were brought out in the story of how his ship was the first of any kind to follow the southeastern coast of Alaska. He had great influence with his men, keeping their morale up by football games when they were frozen in during the return from this trip. In February 1917, when seventy-one years old, Admiral Stockton volunteered for active service in the World war, but was not accepted.

Books On Law Used

Two books on International law written by Admiral Stockton are now widely used in colleges and universities. His "Handbook of International Law" and "Manual of International Law" show the breadth of his knowledge on the subject which was of the greatest interest to him.

In concluding his speech, Admiral Campbell paid tribute to the greatness of his fellow-officer, "Admiral Stockton," he said, "was a credit to the United States Navy, a man whose influence was always for the good. His influence still lives in the Navy through his writings; his influence on this University is well known and, as visible evidence in this portrait, his influence will live in this hall and in this institution for many, many years to come."

ANNOUNCE PROCEEDS OF EVENING OF MUSIC

Benefit for Hospital Brings $5,900 According to Board of Managers

Over thirty-nine hundred dollars was realized on the benefit given February 22nd by the Board of Lady Managers of the Hospital. It has been announced. This sum, it is felt, is a highly satisfying reward for the efforts of the Ladies of the Board in staging the "Evening of Music at Mount Vernon," which besides being a financial success, was a real event both musically and socially.

At a special meeting of the Board of Lady Managers on March 24th it was voted to expend $3,439 of the amount as follows:

- $2,139 Electric Refrigerators (Kelvinators).
- $500 Washer.
- $100 Repairing mattresses.
- $240 Morris Chairs, (6).
- $160 Surgical beds, (2).
- $300 Linen.

All of these items represent real needs at the hospital and will add vastly to the comfort of its patients.

G. W. WINS MATCH FROM MARYLAND U.

Takes Triangle Match From N. R. A. Champions and Drexel Institute

SHOOT 498 OUT OF 500

Victory Is Close as All Scores Are Within Four Points of The Winners

In the most thrilling match of the season, the George Washington Girls' Rifle team defeated the University of Maryland and Drexel Institute in a triangular shoulder to shoulder match, held at the University of Maryland on Saturday, March 28. The scores were: G. W. 498; University of Maryland, 496; Drexel, 494.

The match was not decided until the last shot was fired. After the last G. W. girl had finished her target, the score was tied, and the result depended upon the score of the Maryland girl. If the Maryland girl made no higher than 99, the G. W. victory was assured. The last score was 97, thus giving the match to G. W.

Match Double Victory

This match is a double victory for G. W. in that Maryland won the N. R. A. match, and Drexel is one of the leading girls' teams in the east.

The individual scores of the match were: Waldman, 98; Taylor, 100; Shoemaker, 95; Fries, 99; Valden, 100; Huntzberger, 100; Kilpatrick, 99.

After a dinner at which the G. W. and Drexel girls were guests of honor, the last meeting of the G. W. squad was held. Katherine Shoemaker was chosen captain for the coming year. Announcement was made that the following girls would be recommended for letters—for major letters: Fries, Valden, Huntzberger, Shoemaker, Taylor, Waldman, Captain, and Kilpatrick, manager. For minor letters, Theis, Garber, Prentiss, Jamison, and the first assistant manager.

MEN'S GLEE CLUB GIVES SUCCESSFUL CONCERT

Well Filled Gymnasium Greets Annual Effort of Club

A well filled gymnasium greeted the Men's Glee Club for the annual concert held last Friday night. Over two hours of delightful music was presented by the club, while dancing until 1 o'clock followed the program.

Selections by the club, piano, violin and vocal solos, songs by the University quartet, and exhibition dancing featured the program. The club was under the leadership of Director Bob Harmon, while Mrs. Harmon accompanied the selections on the piano.

The singing of the University quartet was enthusiastically received, and they were forced to sing five selections before being allowed to retire. An exhibition Charleston, and a "Gilda Grey" dance was the comedy feature. The concert was managed by Jack Poole and Harry Klinge.

BOOK PLATE PRESENTED TO G. W. BY NOTED WASHINGTON ARTIST

C. K. Berryman Makes Revised Drawing of Old Library Engraving Used Years Ago

Clifford K. Berryman, Washington artist, has recently presented George Washington University with a book plate to be used in the books of the University library. Mr. Berryman had the plate made from a design which he conceived, based upon an old book plate used many years ago in Columbian College. There are several changes in the new design, necessitated by the development of the old Columbian College into the present university, chief among them the substitution of a bust of George Washington for an Aladdin's lamp which appeared in the foreground of the old plate. The dome of the Capitol, the hour glass and the quill pen as well as the book on which is seen the motto of the University are practically unchanged, as Mr. Berryman altered them only enough to make them clearer and more distinct. Mr. Berryman's gift has been received at the University with much

DRAMATIC FESTIVAL OPENS WITH VODVIL TOMORROW IN GYM

Dancing, Russian and Charlestonian, Songs, Circus and Plays Fill Program

TICKETS PLACED ON SALE

Managers Hint Nature of Acts; Refuse Definite Announcement Of Program

The initial event of the Dramatic Festival will take place in the Gymnasium tomorrow night, April 1, at 8.30, when the Annual Vodvil will be presented by the Dramatic Association. The program is composed of varied acts and stunts prepared by fraternity and sorority groups, and other organizations in the University. Among these are dance, musical, and pantomime numbers, as well as straight dramatic skits, original and otherwise. Admission price is fifty cents and the profits are to constitute a fund for the purchase of Gymnasium equipment. The crowds which attended this event last year are expected to be amplified considerably as a result of the success of the previous program.

Tickets are on sale at the Treasurer's office. They may also be had from members of the various fraternities on the campus and from the Dramatic organizations. The sale will continue at the gate the night of the performance.

Acts To Be Original

Says Professor Bolwell: "Twice as much as a good show at Keith's will be given, with so many good acts that it will take two alphabets to list them. This year's vaudeville will prove that there's something new under the sun." Definite programs, however, are refused, so the element of surprise adds to the attraction of the evening. It is known that acts will be included by sororities and fraternities as well as specialties by individual performers, which organization will succeed in having their offerings accepted is still a matter of conjecture. Some of the acts are described as startling in their originality. Those listed at the time of writing are: several versions of the Charleston, specialties including a Russian dance, songs, a band, a five-ring circus, short one act skits, and original playlets. The program will begin promptly at the appointed time and move rapidly to include the numerous stunts billed.

WASHINGTON PORTRAITS PRESENTED UNIVERSITY

Corcoran Gallery of Art Gives George and Martha Pictures to George Washington

At the time of the third annual Roll Call, last November, General George Washington and Mistress Martha Washington paid a brief visit to the University to welcome the students. At that time they promised to come again. The patron saints of the University have now returned to stand in permanent welcome at the entrance to Corcoran Hall, greeting with friendly smiles succeeding generations of students.

Two portraits, one of George Washington and the other of Martha Washington, have been sent to the University as a loan by the Corcoran Gallery of Art, through the courtesy of its director, C. Powell Mininger. They are companion portraits, painted by G. P. A. Healy after the originals by Gilbert Stuart, whose portraits of Washington are so famous. The portraits have been hung in the main entrance of Corcoran Hall where they may be seen and enjoyed by all who come and go.

interest, particularly on account of its historical connection with this institution before it became the present George Washington University.

Nominations for this award containing full information with reference to the man named should be sent in to the Secretary of the University who is chairman of the committee on or before May first.

SPHINX INITIATES THREE MAKING TOTAL OF SEVEN

New Members Will Entertain Alumni At Dinner Next Month

Sphinx Honor Society held its annual initiation last Friday evening, admitting three girls, Elsie Talbert, Lonnelle Davidson and Frances Randolph to membership. This brings the society to its full membership of seven. Girls are elected to Sphinx in recognition of high scholastic standing, an average of ninety percent or over, and of an active interest in student activities.

The new members are to furnish the entertainment at an alumni dinner to be held next month, when all old members of the society from its founding in 1912 to the present time will be invited to meet the active chapter. The dinner will be held at the home of Ruth Williams, president of Sphinx.

GIRL DEBATE TRIO TWICE WINNER TO CONCLUDE SEASON

Return from Successful Trip to Ithaca and Hunter Colleges In Empire State

OPEN FORUM AT HUNTER

Rebuttal at Ithaca Proves Lively; Open Forum Declared Success By Hunter College

(By Ruth Greenwood)

Rising to the apex of their forensic ability, the girls' debating team of George Washington University concluded their scheduled season with an open forum victory over Ithaca College at Ithaca, New York, last Friday and Saturday nights. The team, which consisted of Ruth Newburn, Helen Miller, and Vivian Simpson, upheld the negative of the question, "Resolved: That the United States Should Adopt a Uniform Marriage and Divorce Law."

At Ithaca, the G. W. team was obliged to exclude all discussion of marriage laws as the affirmative made divorce laws the immediate issue. The Hatchetwomen contended first, that uniformity is not necessary because of the evolution of social ideas and the complete failure of divorce laws in the past; second, that uniformity is both impossible and impractical because it is a non-compromising scheme too wide in its scope to meet the needs of different states; and third, that "uniform" laws cannot be uniform.

The Cornell trio exploited the evils of migratory evasion of state laws and sought to remedy them by one uniform law. They cited the famous divorce case of "Haddock vs. Haddock" which the Buff and Blue speakers refuted as an illogical argument for uniformity. The rebuttal proved lively and much better than the prepared speeches.

Round Table Discussion

The meeting at Hunter College exemplified a debating experiment in the form of a round table discussion. There the question resolved itself into whether the United States should have federal or state marriage and divorce laws; whether regulations should be more or less strict; or whether we should have any such laws at all. The viewpoints were personal and very diverse, but interesting. Miss Fosoro, debating for Hunter, supported a federal amendment to the Constitution, while Vivian Simpson of George Washington advocated no marriage and divorce laws. Hunter authorities were well pleased with the discussion and pronounced it far more successful than a recent one of its kind held with Bates College.

The local team left Washington Thursday night and arrived at Ithaca early Friday morning. While there they stayed at Willard Straight Hall, a late addition to women's dormitories at Cornell. The Dean of Women entertained in their honor on Friday evening and they left immediately after the debate for Hunter. They spent Saturday and Sunday night in New York and returned home Sunday.

CHOOSING A VOCATION, DEAN ROSE'S SUBJECT

Warns Girls to Beware of Quack Theories of Character Analysis

The importance of considering one's interests and abilities when choosing a vocation was emphasized by Dean Anna L. Rose in a talk before seventy-five girls in Corcoran Hall, Monday night, March 15. After tracing the rise of woman from virtual slavery to her present freedom, Dean Rose discussed the choosing of a vocation. She advised the girls to beware of quack theories of character analysis; a vocational counselor is the only dependable person to consult.

Questions which a girl should ask herself are: Can I adjust myself to a situation? Do I have a general air of culture? Am I persistent, industrious, interested? Have I initiative? Have I intelligence? Do I want temporary or permanent work? What kind of work is most intensely interesting to me?

Vocations are divided into the professions, the crafts, commercial work, and personal service.

When considering a definite position, the girl should ask herself: Is it local or national? Is it seasonal? What are the working hours and the salary? What training and experience is necessary? What social position accompanies the job? What personal value will I get from the work?

STUDENT COMMITTEE TO MEET

President Lewis will meet the members of his Student Committee Wednesday evening, March 31, at seven o'clock, in his office.

FRAT COLONY

Yale is to build a colony of fraternity houses near the main buildings of the University. It is expected that much will be gained by thus concentrating the fraternities upon the campus. George Washington would do well to recognize this advantage. Fraternities are now located all over the city, sometimes paying very high rentals for their houses. There has been much talk of establishing a fraternity row, but it is impossible for the University to make the first move at this time. If the fraternities were to take this step by moving down near the University, preferably building their own houses but renting if this is impractical, they would be quick to see the mutual advantages to themselves and to the University.

THE VAUDEVILLE

The Second Annual Vaudeville will be presented, appropriately enough, on the evening of April Fools' Day in the Gymnasium. This inaugurates the Dramatic Festival, which was so enjoyable and successful an event last year. The aim of the committee in charge has been to present a varied, well executed program, and all reports indicate that this will be accomplished. As before, the proceeds of this event will go to swell the Gymnasium Equipment Fund. Thereby is the requisite "worthiness" of the cause established.

Furthermore, this is one "four-bits" the impoverished student may well part with, being assured of an ample return, as the slogan of the committee is, "Come early and stay as long as you like." There will be something to the taste of every one; satire for the cynic and sentiment for the credulous, Terpsichore vying with Polyhymnia, all for your edification. Drag, and drag early!

MORE ABOUT TENNIS

A recent count of the activity cards filled out at the beginning of the school year has revealed that more than one thousand students reported themselves interested in tennis. This factor alone should be sufficient evidence of the necessity for fostering Varsity competition in this sport. Furthermore, we have had very successful court seasons during the past few years, meeting some of the best teams of the East both at home and away. Under the direction of Dean Miller, coach, the team defeated C. U., Johns Hopkins and Delaware, and lost to Swarthmore and Lehigh by narrow margins in 1923.

A member of the team won the singles championship of the Middle Atlantic Intercollegiate Association held at Richmond. In 1924 the team met such teams as Virginia, Maryland, Colgate, Columbia, Swarthmore, Princeton, Lehigh, Navy and Georgetown, besides playing in the Intercollegiate. Among the teams defeated were Georgetown and Maryland. Last season C. U., Swarthmore, Maryland, Franklin and Marshall, Lehigh, Delaware and Pennsylvania were met. The crowning achievement of the season last year was the performance of Baum, No. 1 man on the G. W. team, winning the Middle Atlantic Intercollegiate singles championship at the annual spring tournament held at the Columbia Country Club, defeating Haas of Georgetown in the finals.

A number of meets had been lined up for this year and requests for them are still coming to the University. A great deal of excellent material for a team is now in the University, and several men of tennis experience are among the new class this year.

Is not the past record and present prospects enough to warrant appropriation for a successful tennis season? This is a sport that has been built up at George Washington University by a series of brilliant efforts and one for which the University was perhaps better known than any other with the possible exception of rifle. Surely there must have been some mistake when there was no appropriation made for tennis.

The Sigma Kappa's most delightfully combined the raising of funds for their national philanthropic work with a party in the form of a Silver Tea, given in the Sorority rooms, on Sunday afternoon, March 28, to which members of other sororities and outside guests were invited.

Mrs. Vesta Lockwood Watson, Mrs. E. Hume Talbert, and Mrs. Robert Harpur were guests at dinner in the Chi Omega rooms, Monday night.

Gamma Eta Zeta, the Women's Honorary Journalistic Fraternity, held its annual banquet at the Iron Gate Inn on Thursday night, March 25 in honor of the new initiates of the Fraternity, who include Misses Betty Armentrout, Mary Temple Hill, Marcelle Le Menager, and Helen Shaw. Among the especially invited guests were President and Mrs. William Mather Lewis, Professor and Mrs. Chace, Miss Ruby Black, Mr. Herbert Little and Mrs. Alice Watts Hostetler. The program as arranged by Miss Lynne Smith, newly elected president of the organization, included toasts by President Lewis, Miss Black, Professor Chace, Miss Frances Randolph and the new members.

"Colie" Coleman has put something over on us—rumor has it that Miss Ryan said "I will"—on the 13th of March.

The pledges of Kappa Delta were at home to the pledges of the other sororities at an Easter Tea, last Sunday afternoon at the chapter house on Que Street, the decorations of the rooms giving quite a festive air.

The Phi Sig's are making their Easter party quite an elaborate affair, with a formal dance at the Manor Club on April 2. Delegates from each of the Sororities and Fraternities on the campus have been invited and if what we hear is true, the girl that gets one of the hand-painted "hankies" is to be envied.

Patty Ann Jamison, our new Assignment Editor, has the measles!

The Men's Glee Club is becoming quite prominent socially—with several dances during the year—but their real party was given last Friday night in the gym with a dance following a most attractively arranged concert.

Alpha Eta chapter of Kappa Sigma held its annual Founders' Day Banquet at the Franklin Square Hotel last Saturday night with a large attendance of actives and alumni. We can't get all the gruesome details but we understand the program included a whole "Bevy of beauties."

Pledge teas seem to be quite the fad. The Chi O. goats have issued cards for a tea in the rooms on Sunday April 11 as a conclusion to holiday activities.

Leonard Hall, Dramatic Critic of the News, and Norman Baxter, Sports Editor of the Post, who will be initiated as honorary members of Pi Delta Epsilon on Wednesday, March 31, will share honors with Professors Doyle and Croissant at a dinner at the Roma, following the initiation ceremony.

You can't put anything over on Dean Rose—she even has her teas up-to-date. Were you present at the last one, when six-year old Emily Peters gave an exhibition of the Charleston?

Sigma Alpha Epsilon announces their pledging of Harry Moyer, Frank W. Smith, Frederick McLaughlin, William Hartgen, Arthur V. Mitchell and Raymond Johnson.

Alpha Delta Pi will hold their Easter Dance on Wednesday, April 7 at the Washington Golf and Country Club. The music will be furnished by Ted Mumford.

The Phi Sigmas entertained with a dinner in honor of their formal pledging last Monday evening. Those pledged were Mary Virginia Lee, Virginia Mitchell, Mary Lewis Beard, Margaret Knapp and Evelyn Best. Besides the active members, several alumni members were present.

Five members of the Medical School were admitted into Phi Chi medical fraternity in the final initiation of the season held Sunday, March 21st. The men initiated were Charles Calvin, George Dewey, Julius Budd, David Quinn and James Stretch.

Phi Chi medical fraternity held the first of a series of get-together luncheons for the active and alumni members at the City Club Saturday, March 27th. Talks by the alumni featured the luncheon which was enjoyed by every one present.

Ethel Wolf Fred was formerly initiated by Pi Beta Phi on Monday evening at the home of Ruth and Alice Williams.

A tea dance will be held by Pi Beta Phi in Corean Hall on April 7th, from 5 until 7 o'clock. The admission is seventy-five cents a couple and fifty cents for stags. Proceeds of the entertainment will be devoted to the fund for the settlement school at Gatlinburg, Tennessee, which was founded and is supported by the sorority.

INTERFRAT BASEBALL SCHEDULE ANNOUNCED

Teams Placed in Two Leagues, the Winners in Each to Play For Cup

Plans were worked out for the interfraternity baseball league for the spring series at the meeting of the Interfrat Council last Sunday morning. The teams were divided into two leagues, to be known as league A and league B, the members of each league to play every other team in the league, and the league winners in each section to meet for the championship.

This is the same plan which was followed in the basketball and bowling tournaments. A cup will be awarded the winning fraternity. Play will get underway April 11, and games will be arranged by the interfraternity delegates within the time limits set.

In League A is Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Sigma Chi, Theta Upsilon Omega, Delta Tau Delta, and Sigma Nu. League B consists of Sigma Phi Epsilon, Phi Sigma Kappa, Acacia, Kappa Sigma, Theta Delta Chi, and Kappa Alpha. The schedule follows:

April 11

Sigma Alpha Epsilon vs. Sigma Chi; Theta Upsilon Omega vs. Delta Tau Delta; Sigma Phi Epsilon vs. Phi Sigma Kappa; Acacia vs. Kappa Sigma; Theta Delta Chi vs. Kappa Alpha.

April 18

Sigma Chi vs. Theta Upsilon Omega; Delta Tau Delta vs. Sigma Nu; Sigma Phi Epsilon vs. Acacia; Phi Sigma Kappa vs. Theta Delta Chi; Kappa Sigma vs. Kappa Alpha.

April 25

Sigma Alpha Epsilon vs. Theta Upsilon Omega; Sigma Chi vs. Delta

Tau Delta; Sigma Phi Epsilon vs. Kappa Sigma; Phi Sigma Kappa vs. Kappa Alpha; Acacia vs. Theta Delta Chi.

May 2

Theta Upsilon Omega vs. Sigma Nu; Sigma Alpha Epsilon vs. Delta Tau Delta; Phi Sigma Kappa vs. Acacia; Theta Delta Chi vs. Kappa Sigma; Sigma Phi Epsilon vs. Kappa Alpha.

May 9

Sigma Alpha Epsilon vs. Sigma Nu; Acacia vs. Kappa Alpha; Phi Sigma Kappa vs. Kappa Sigma; Sigma Phi Epsilon vs. Theta Delta Chi. One additional game, between Sigma Nu and Sigma Chi will be played during the week of May 9. The winner in each league will meet May 16 to decide the championship.

COLUMBIAN FROSH PLAN "GET TOGETHER" DANCE

Event Will Be Closed Except to the University Freshmen

The Columbian "Frosh" have taken a definite step to promote a closer class relationship. President Edmonston and the other officers of the Columbian College freshmen are sponsoring a "get together" dance for all the "wearers of the green" in the University, to be given in Corcoran Hall No. 1 on Friday, April 16, 1926.

With the co-operation of the other freshman classes, it is believed that $1.00 per couple (one of whom must be a freshman) would be a sufficient charge to enable the management to secure the finest music obtainable, and one or two excellent specialties.

Twenty-Four Points Separate Two Teams as Penn Takes Championship

N. R. A. MATCH SCHEDULED

Winners of Matches In Three Different Sections of Country Will Shoot Finals

The University of Pennsylvania has won the Intercollegiate Rifle Association championship by a score of 1947 points to George Washington's 1923.

Baxter Smith heads the George Washington list with a tally of 388. Neilson Strawbridge followed with a 386. John A. Plugge, H. E. Riley, and Dick Radue finished the "high five" with a 383 apiece. The other five members of the George Washington team are Parsons, T. A. Riley, Leighy, Campbell, and Schriker.

George Washington will be the host to the teams of Southern and Middle Atlantic States in the National Rifle Association Intercollegiate championship matches. At the same time there will be a match in New York for the Northern and New England States, and a third match in Chicago for the Central States. The winners of the three matches will meet in another shoulder to shoulder match at some place yet to be determined to decide the final winner of the Intercollegiate championship.

FAIR DEVOTEES OF GOLF SHOULD BEGIN PRACTICE

Miss Hopkins announces that all girls interested in entering the golf tournament this spring should begin practice at once. A date is to be set when the individual scores made on a designated day are to be turned in. From these scores the teams will be chosen.

William and Mary Meet

Good Showing at Plaza

Stars Entered as Novices

Interclass Meet Not Far Off

By DOMY DOMIGAN

The track meet with William and Mary is to take place as scheduled Saturday. The date was kept because the encounter had been planned as the feature of the pre-Easter program at the Virginia school in spite of the fact that the local boys are in the early stages of development, not having trained with a meet in view at so early a date. It is encouraging that several of the veterans are in more advanced condition and it is hoped that through the work in their events, a creditable showing will be made.

The showing of the G. W. squad in the races on the Plaza track Sunday was encouraging. Willett repeated his victory of a week ago in winning the three mile feature. George Washington men copped second and third honors in the 300-yard dash while a G. W. man was second in the century. In the 1,000-yard novice race, Ludwig was second with two G. W. men following—the race being won by a Catholic U. entrant who had long ago graduated from the novice class. Entries in the mile and 50 yard novice races failed to place.

The races at the Plaza grounds held under the combined auspices of the Aloysius Club, the Washington Canoe Club and George Washington University for the past two Sundays have met with marked success—entries from the various clubs and Universities competing dividing the honors between them. But the sportsmanlike attitude that has prevailed in the previous race and other similar races was somewhat marred by Catholic U.'s entry of a number of their erstwhile stars in the events of the novice class, seemingly failing to realize that the purpose of these extra events was not to "clean up" but to encourage experienced runners to enter the same. Most of us come to learn that it is not how much we can win and how little we can lose that counts but that sportsmanship is the true standard of athletic success. In order to further encourage competition of those of the novice class, it is suggested that the winner of the novice events each week be barred from further competition in that event.

A small squad of men is out for football practice under the tutelage of Coach Crum. Instead of holding daily sessions as was previously planned, the boys report for instruction three times a week and under this arrangement it is planned that the practice be extended over an additional fortnight. The boys have not "opened up" as yet but a number of the men reporting bid fair to increase the chances of G. W. for a successful season next year.

With the Inter-class track meet less than three weeks away, the fraternities and sororities are preparing for their special events and as hopes run high, keen competition is promised in every event. The fact that cups have been donated by both Coach Crum and the Inter-Fraternity Council for the fraternity relay adds spice to the event and makes every group aspire for the coveted trophies. Some of the co-eds may be training on the side too but as we have not heard of the cops dispersing any mobs, we have been unable to ascertain the extent of their activity.

TRACK TEAM MEETS WILLIAM AND MARY

April 3 Decided Upon as Date For Clash With Fast Indian Team

G. W. STRONG IN DISTANCE

Track Athletes Train for Interclass Meet At Eastern High on April 17

The Buff and Blue trackmen will journey to Williamsburg Saturday, April 3 where they will engage the Indians of William and Mary. The Williamsburg team is reputed to be a strong one, but Coach Probe's men are confident that they can show the Indians their heels.

Captain John Loehler will lead the team and will be entered in the weight events of the field department. Loehler's previous achievements with the shot, discus and javelin augur well for the chances of G. W. against William and Mary in these events. Loehler also runs a good 440 and shines in the hurdle races and may be used in these events.

In the other field events, Aaronson is expected to register several points for the Buff and Blue. Aaronson's best events are the high and broad jumps.

Good in Long Runs

On the track, Coach Probe expects to score heavily in the distance events, with Domigan in the two-mile, the 880-yard dash, and possibly also the mile; Bixby in the mile, and probably one other distance race; and Shipley in the two-mile. It has not been definitely decided which of these races the different men will enter.

In the middle distance events Loehler will be available if he can run any of these races in addition to his other events. Baggett, winner of the special 660-yard race in last year's interclass track meet is out for a place on the varsity this year and bids fair to make a place for himself as a middle distance runner.

Start Outdoor Practice

The team has started outdoor practice, using the Plaza track and the track of Georgetown University. There will be no more indoor practice as the track has been taken out of the gym.

The members of the varsity squad are training for the Interclass Track Meet which will be held April 17 at the Eastern High School track. Others are practicing independently and the fraternity and sorority relay teams are preparing for stiff battles for the two feature events of the track meet.

Entry blanks for the Interclass Meet should be filled out at once. They may be secured from Hilroy Tolson, president of the G. W. Club, 1733 N Street, N. W.

TO PICK VARSITY FROM CLASS BASEBALL NINES

Intra-Mural Series to Begin After Easter; Varsity May Take Trip Later

A schedule of games for the three organized college baseball teams is rapidly taking shape, according to Coach "Maud" Crum. Managers have been appointed by the nines, and they are now working to arrange a series of diamond tilts to begin immediately after the Easter vacation.

Teams representing the Chemistry Department, College of Engineering, and Columbian College will soon start a series to decide the University Championship. These games will be played on the Monument Grounds, commencing immediately after the holidays. It is thought that, in addition to staging the Intra-mural series, the nines will book games with various local independent and high school teams.

Trip for Varsity

It is planned to pick a Varsity composed of the best players on the three teams, with a possibility of playing such out-of-town colleges as may have open dates on their home schedules, making a trip for the Varsity probable. This fact should prove an added inducement to men in the University who can play baseball to try out for one of the College teams.

New equipment has just been purchased with the funds appropriated for baseball. This equipment includes gloves, balls, bats and other necessities. It is rumored that another college team is to be organized, making a four-team league.

The managers of the teams are as follows: Guy Hottel, Columbian College; Emory W. Clapper, Chemistry; and Curtis, Engineers. Any men who contemplate coming out for practice should get in touch with one of the managers at once.

Managers and assistant managers are wanted for Golf and Track, the two new girls' sports being organized this spring. Any girls interested in trying out for these places report to Miss Hopkins in the gym as soon as possible. The first applicants have the best chances.

SPRING FOOTBALL PRACTICE STARTED

Six Veterans Now on Squad Training Under Direction Of Coach Crum

25 REPORT FOR PRACTICE

One Year Rule Makes Next Year's Schedule Look Hard; Men Urged To Report Now

As spring football practice progresses apace, Coach Crum is putting his charges through an extensive course of sprouts from 2 to 4 o'clock every afternoon on the Monument lot. Of the twenty-five candidates to report so far, six, Kendall, Athey, Clapper, Crum, Coleman and Allshouse, are veterans.

Among the most promising of the new men are DeLashmuth, who shows signs of developing into a capable punter, and Rosvitch, who has the makings of an excellent halfback. DeLashmuth is the brother of the famous Tom of the same name, who starred on the teams of '23 and '24.

Next Schedule Difficult

In view of the difficult schedule for the coming season, a schedule that includes Penn State and Catholic University, and of the One-Year Rule that goes into effect in 1927, there is an urgent need of material for the football team. All who would like to go out for the team are pressing requested to report to Coach Crum at the gym.

REGULATIONS FOR FRAT TENNIS MADE

Three Singles and Two Doubles Matches Are to be Played

USE FOUR OR FIVE MEN

Two Out of Three Acts to Decide All But Final Round of Matches

Final regulations with regard to the interfraternity tennis tournament were drawn up at the Council meeting held last Sunday morning. Each series of matches will consist of three singles and two doubles matches, to be played as prescribed in the regulations.

Teams of four or five men will be allowed the fraternities. Four men would be the lowest limit possible without having one man play more than one single match. If five men are used one entirely fresh doubles team can play the third match, while two of the singles players can pair for the fifth match.

Two sets out of three will decide the matches, with the exception of the finals, where three sets out of five will be required to win.

Play Starts April 11

Play will start April 11, and the first round must be played by April 18, the second by April 25, and the series must be over by Sunday, May 2.

The resolution as adopted reads as follows: "Teams of four or five men shall represent each fraternity; the victor of each match shall be decided by winning two out of three sets, save that the final matches shall be decided by winning three out of five sets."

"Of the first three matches played in each round, one must be a doubles match, the fourth must be a singles, and the fifth the second doubles match; the victorious fraternity in each round shall be decided by winning three out of five matches."

HOCKEY PRACTICE BEGINS ON ELLIPSE

Practice Games Are Scheduled For Early Spring; Dates To Be Announced

TRAIN STEADILY IN APRIL

Last Year's Girls Urged to Come Out for Practice on Tuesdays And Fridays

Spring Hockey practice began in real earnest last Tuesday. Permission has again been given by the D. C. authorities for the girls to use either of the two fine hockey fields on the ellipse south of the White House. The practice days are Tuesday and Friday of each week, from two to four in the afternoon. This arrangement is the best that can be made, for it permits those girls who have classes on either Tuesday or Friday afternoons to play on the alternate days. By this method Miss Hopkins expects to secure the largest possible number of players, as well as to give every hockey enthusiast an opportunity to show her spirit.

The hockey fields are not yet in the best of condition, and there will doubtless be many rainy days during April, but whenever the weather permits the squad will journey to the ellipse for its practices. In inclement weather Miss Hopkins plans for the girls to do work of some kind in the gym which will keep them in physical trim.

No Varsity Games

No varsity games are being scheduled for the season, but announcements will soon be made of a series of practice games to be played by teams chosen by Miss Hopkins from among the girls primarily to give them experience in team work.

Jeanne Gravatte, manager of the team, has had hockey notices and schedule of practice days posted on the various bulletin boards around school. All girls who are interested in taking part in hockey this spring, whether or not they have ever played before, can get full information about it from Jeanne Gravatte or Alice Haines, captain of the team. Especially those girls who played last fall are urged to come out this season.

PIERCE GIVES KEYNOTE TO SUCCESS IN CHAPEL

Get Other Person's Viewpoint, Have What Another Lacks, Says Congregationalist

The Reverend Jason Noble Pierce, pastor of the First Congregational church, gave a talk in chapel Wednesday, March 24, using as his topic "If the blind lead the blind, shall they not fall into the ditch?"

"The man who is successful," Dr. Pierce stated, "is the man who is able to get the other person's point of view, and who has something which another man lacks."

"The man whom we would call blind is often the very one who can see," said Dr. Pierce, after relating an incident in which a man who had been blinded and forced to adapt himself to an entirely changed life, enabled another blind man to find happiness again. The former was not blind; he could see the other's point of view, for he had had the same experience. He had something which the other lacked and he helped him to obtain it.

Dr. Pierce concluded his talk with the hope that he, too, might have an unselfish heart, and might help others to appreciate joy.

RIALTO

The Rialto withdrew our handsome henna-tinted annual pass some weeks ago, so it cost the boy-friend a buck to get him and me into the Ninth Street house last Sunday to review the show for you folks. Dramatic criticism has its rough spots.

The current masterpiece is "The Combat," a film that uses six reels to prove that honesty is the best policy in winning a movie heroine. It is melodrama, pure and simple, mostly simple. Lumberjacks, great burly he-men that made my little heart go pitty-pat, are the principal characters in the plot, which features the amorous adventures of a

Wanda Hawley, as the heroine, is absolutely the only woman appearing in the picture, which suited me just fine, as the lack of females gave the boy-friend more time to make goo-goo eyes at me. House Peters is the star.

A comedy, newsreel, overture, and special stage presentation complete the program.

ESTELLE.

METROPOLITAN

Dorothy Mackall, co-starring with Conway Tearle in "The Dancer of Paris," at the Metropolitan this week, is really an attraction. She takes the part of a wealthy young American miss who plays with the hearts of several men, drives one of them to despair, and then dances for him as he lies dying. After which she kisses the dead man's rival, and beats it for America and home.

If it were not for Dorothy, "The Dancer of Paris" would take all prizes as the world's worst movie. The plot is the worst any director ever had the courage to film. Which may be putting it strongly, but if you don't believe me you can go see for yourself.

One of the clever "Helen and Warren" comedies, the Pathe Review, and a very fine program by the Metropolitan Orchestra are all calculated to make you glad you came, regardless of the main feature.

BOB.

PALACE

Recommending an entertaining show is a lot of fun, so I'm going to enjoy myself a little by stating that "Miss Brewster's Millions," the feature picture at the Palace this week, is a pretty good theatrical buy.

The story is taken from McCutcheon's well-known novel "Brewster's Millions," but the leading figure in the movie is a girl. This young lady, who will receive five millions from an uncle so wealthy that it hurts him if she spends a legacy of another million from another uncle within a year, is played by Miss Bebe Daniels. Her performance, though farcical, is funny. The picture as a whole is more or less burlesque, but amusing. Ford Sterling, Andre Beranger, so good in "The Grand Duchess and the Waiter," and Warner Baxter, acquit themselves well in the minor roles.

A Mack Sennett comedy, Pathe News, and Maestro Gannon's music complete the bill.

DEAN.

GENTLE GOSSIP

The funniest sight in Washington last week wasn't the edifying vision of two of Mrs. Mina's hand-picked policewomen, ignorant of their victim's identity, suspiciously following Charlotte Greenwood on F Street after she had met and welcomed her husband. No, it was the diverting view of the Count de Polignac nearly killing himself in the intricacies of one of the Mayflower's revolving doors.

Last Saturday evening we went down to Poll's to witness the Muscovite mummies in one of the most unusual productions in several years. "Lysistrata," Aristophanes' best, was done in such an uproarious and clever manner that the town's dramatic critics, to a man, demanded with the New York reviewers that our intellectual public attend the performance en masse.

If only one-one hundredth of Washington's better-class theatre patrons went, the legitimate playhouses of this village might as well start playing vaudeville and pictures. There were about sixty persons in the orchestra of Poll's Saturday night.

MISS SYBIL SMITH GIVES LECTURE ON VITAMINS

Discusses Experiments and Recent Discoveries in the Treatment Of Rickets

Miss Sybil Smith gave an interesting lecture on "Vitamins" March 25, at 8 o'clock in Corcoran Hall, room 17.

The vitamins were classified; A, B, C, D, E, and Miss Smith traced the origin of each classification. She emphasized the fact that lack of appetite is caused by lack of the essential vitamins. "Sunlight and Health," a new and interesting book dealing with the subject was recommended.

The experiments and recent discoveries for the cure of rickets in children were discussed. Experiments in this work are often carried on with rats, which are used as the patients. Dr. Alfred Hess was the first in this country to treat rickets with direct sunlight and violet rays.

FESS TO SPEAK AT LAWYERS' BANQUET

Annual Dinner and Dance Is Biggest Event of Law School Year

MANY ALUMNI TO ATTEND

Dancing From Ten to Twelve; Music Between Courses; Speeches On Program

The Honorable Simeon D. Fess, United States Senator from Ohio, will be the principal speaker at the Annual Law School Dinner and dance to be held on Saturday, April 17 at the City Club, at 7.30 o'clock. Combined with the Law School Dinner will be the annual banquet of the Columbian-George Washington Law School Association.

George D. Bonebrake, president of the third year class, M. S. Casey, president of the second year class, and Lynn McCormack, president of the first year class, will give short two-minute talks. Between the courses, there will be interspersed musical numbers. An announcement is made that the hours from 10 to 12 have been reserved for dancing.

Record Crowd Expected.

In view of the fact that the alumni have combined with the law students to make this event a notable one, more interest has been shown in the Law School Dinner this year than ever before, and the indications are that a record crowd will be in attendance. Preparations are being made this week to notify more than 1,000 members of the Law School Alumni Association of the Annual Dinner.

Senator Fess has received among other degrees, the degree of LL. B., from Ohio Northern University. For a number of years he was head of the American history department of that university, and later was made director of its college of law. After serving as vice president of Ohio Northern University, he was called to the University of Chicago. At a still later date, he served as president of Antioch College. He was elected to the 63rd and 68th congresses, was made chairman of the National Republican Congressional Committee in 1918, and was elected to the Senate in 1922. He has written various books, and for three years was the editor of "World's Events."

The other periodicals to which the Library subscribes will be kept in the rack in the rear of the reading room.

NEWMAN CLUB MEETS

"The Ideals of Higher Education" was the topic of a talk by Dr. Cartwright, Chaplain of the Club, at the last meeting of the Newman Club, Tuesday evening, March 23. The next meeting will take place on the third Thursday of April. All members are urged to be present at this time as new officers for the coming year are to be elected.

FORMER G. W. STUDENT SPEAKS ON CRIMINOLOGY

Nobel Johnson, State Psychologist For Illinois, Addresses Political Science Students

Nobel Johnson, former student of Dr. Hill, and at present State Psychologist for Illinois delivered a very interesting lecture to Dr. Hill's Political Science students on "Public Welfare Work," March 24, in Corcoran Hall.

"The system of Public Welfare in Illinois is well advanced," Mr. Johnson said. "The Governor is in charge of appointments, and capable men are needed for these positions. The Director of the Department of Public Welfare must see that the public charges are well cared for."

"The question of the insane and feeble-minded is a serious one. Formerly, it was thought that these people were infested with bad spirits; consequently, the victims were locked in cells, and compelled to be always alone. Now it is realized that these unfortunates can improve, and much is being done to help them."

"Penitentiaries also are included in this wide field of work, and the State Penitentiary of Illinois is a new institution not yet completed. The new idea of 'Work for the better things in life' will be stressed in a way which will make the prisoners improve. Good behavior promotes them to better living quarters, and more freedom. Before a man is released from the institution, he is examined by the criminologist, who rates him."

"The greatest work of the criminologist is preventive work. In Chicago there is an institute for Juvenile Research. The improper behavior of children can often be corrected by careful study in individual cases, and their environment."
